

International Journal of Public Sector Performance Management

https://www.inderscience.com/www/IJSPM_leaflet.pdf

En este artículo se demuestra que a pesar de que algunos gobiernos estatales ya han adoptado las Normas Internacionales de Contabilidad del Sector Público (IPSAS por sus siglas en inglés) para la generación de su información financiera, todavía quedan pendientes condiciones políticas que resolver para promover con éxito la armonización contable en los tres niveles de gobierno en México.

Scope of the Journal

With an international and interdisciplinary approach, IJPSPM proposes and fosters discussion on performance management in the public sector, with an emphasis on the implementation of performance management technologies. This perspective acknowledges the complexity of performance management in the public sector as an interface between the values placed upon public sector activities and their implementation. This gap between what is desirable and what is feasible stands at the crossing of many traditional public sector issues such as cultural and ideological processes as well as regulation and economic processes operating over different space-time scales.

Subject coverage:

Suitable topics include but are not limited to:

- Theory and practice of performance management
- Analyses of efficiency in the public sector
- Performance benchmarking
- Performance measurement
- Utilisation of performance information in public organisations
- Organisational impact of performance measurement
- Organisational learning
- Aspects related to the definition of output, outcome and quality indicators
- Issues about the reward of performance
- Efficiency of performance indicators in public context
- Visibilisation of performance
- Organisational paths of performance
- Link between values, cultures and performance management
- Roles played by performance measures to transform an institutional setting
- Relationships between performance measurement, policy context and performance management
- Evaluation methods and practices
- Leadership and public sector management
- The public sector as an entrepreneur
- Accountability in public sector management
- Innovation in public sector management
- Managing public infrastructure technology
- The public sector as venture capitalist
